Will Be Shown to the Public as Warning to Outlaws

MEN BEGGED FOR LIVES

Villa's Secretary Denies Leader
Authorized the Massacre of Santa Ysabel

DISCUSS NATION'S DUTY

JUAREZ, Jan. 18.—The bodies of Jose Rodriguez and Miguel Baca-Valles, executed Villa leaders, exhibited here as evidence that the de facto government of Mexico is determined to exterminate bandits who slaughtered eighteen mining men near Santa Ysabel eight days ago, were sent to Chihuahua City today, here, according to Mexican officials, they will be shown to the public again as a warning to outlaws.

Baca-Valles, caught near Columbus, N. M., and executed early today, begged for his life before facing the firing squad, contrary to the usual fatalistic attitude of Mexicans, according to witnesses of the execution.

It is also declared that Rodriguez crawled, supplicating, before his executioners and was shot to death as he groveled.

Rodriguez, who was executed by Carranza authorities at Madera last Thursday, was positively identified as the Villa leader who has been burning railroad bridges, looting mines and ranches and threatening the lives of foreigners ever since Villa was driven out of Sonora. Enrique Cisneros, another Villa officer who was captured with Baca-Valles, is being brought overland to face a court martial.

General Almeida, one of the bandit leaders reported executed by Carranza officials, was killed, according to the ranch employees, in an effort to rescue Rodriguez.

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 18.—After making his way thru the Carranza lines in safety, Enrique Perez Rul, secretary to General Francisco Villa, arrived here today and denied that Villa had authorized the massacre of Santa Ysabel or that he had ordered all Americans killed, according to Villa adherents here.

Friends of Rul today said he was being hunted in Chihuahua City by Carranza authorities and taking a desperate chance, approached the commandant while he was engaged in a conversation with a young woman and begged a passport. They say that without looking at Rul the commandant scribbled a passport and Rul fled to the border without his identity becoming known.

Rul is in hiding here, his friends declare, because of the anti-Mexican feeling in El Paso.

Rul's friends quoted him as saying that less than ten days ago General Villa reiterated that he would not leave the Guerrero district, saying he had food, ammunition and safe hiding in the Serr Madre mountains, where he could defy any army sent against him.

The massacre at Santa Ysabel was attributed by Rul to the common knowledge that Watson was known as a rich man who carried much currency or bullion. The bandits, he said, must have intended to hold Watson and his men for ransom and loot the train. When Watson and three of his men started to run Rul said he believed the bandits shot them and the sight of Watson dead, drove them blood-mad and the massacre began.

Discuss Nation's Duty.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Discussion of the nation's duty toward its citizens in Mexico topped out in the senate again today and another intervention resolution was added to the half dozen introduced since the Santa Ysabel murders. Several Republican senators attacked President Wilson's policy in heated speeches, and Chairman Stone of the foreign relations committee and other Democrats defended it.

In the meantime officials at the state department continued preparation of the data to be laid before the foreign relations committee in response to Senator Fall's resolution asking for information on conditions in Mexico. It will include among other things a record of outrages against Americans in Mexico since the overthrow of Madero and results of the investigation of the story that the Americans killed at Santa Ysabel were traveling under safe conducts granted by Carranza authorities.

WITHDRAW REQUEST.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Retrenchment orders issued by the city comptroller requesting a reduction in the annual expense of every municipal department today resulted in a withdrawal of Police Chief Healy's request for 1,222 additional policemen.

HOYNE TO TAKE CHARGE OF THE UDIKE CASE

BROTHERS DECLINE THE ASSISTANCE OF LAWYERS

Investigators Are at Crown Point
Looking Into the Reported Marriage of Herbert Udiuke to Nellye de Onsonne, a Cabaret Dancer.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—While Irving and Herbert Udiuke, who are said by the police to have confessed to plotting the murder of their father, Furman D. Udiuke, were declining the assistance of lawyers today, investigators were at Crown Point, Indiana looking into the reported marriage of Herbert, the younger of the prisoners, to Nellye de Onsonne, a cabaret dancer.

Officials at Crown Point said that a marriage ceremony uniting the two was performed Jan. 8th. Justice of the Peace H. B. Nicholson, identified photographs of Udiuke and the singer as correct likenesses of the persons for whom he read the marriage service and a return on the marriage license, purporting to show that the ceremony had been performed was found in the files of the county clerk. Also the landlord of one of the hotels identified the photographs.

Udiuke declined to confirm the story. "I don't want to drag her name in," said he. The young woman was not at the cafe where she is employed tonight and was reported to have disappeared.

Earlier in the day the dancer spoke of a previous marriage and her six year old daughter. "Herbert loved me," she said, "and I told him I was married, but was getting a divorce."

Detectives were searching for her tonight to learn if she had obtained a divorce before January 8th. In Oak Park, the suburb where Udiuke, a retired millionaire grain and lumber merchant lived, it was reported that the senior Udiuke objected seriously to Herbert's attentions to the dancer.

Young Udiuke—the marriage license gave his age at 24—is said to have planned the purchase of a cafe in St. Louis where the object of his affections was to be the cabaret feature.

Maclay Hoyne, state's attorney of Cook county, which includes Oak Park, said tonight that the suburban authorities were making too much of a family affair out of the case and that he would take charge himself tomorrow thru a representative from his office in Chicago.

When reporters were allowed to see the prisoners in the Oak Park jail tonight, they appeared calm and without apprehension despite State's Attorney Hoyne's assertion that the crime with which they are charged is a serious one.

Their father reiterated that the law must take its course.

PLACE PRESIDENT AND CASHIER OF TONICA EXCHANGE BANK ON TRIAL

Defense Makes Unsuccessful Efforts to Prevent Lee O'Neill Browne from Assisting State's Attorney.

Ottawa, Ill., Jan. 18.—John E. Hartenbower of Chicago, president and George B. Hiltabrand, cashier, were placed on trial in the circuit court here today, charged with wrecking the Tonic Exchange bank, which closed its doors on November 14, 1913. Judge S. C. Stough, who presided at the recent Monday trial at Morris, is sitting in the case.

Unsuccessful effort were made by the defense today to prevent Lee O'Neill Browne, member of the legislature, from assisting State's Attorney Wilney.

A venire of 100 men was returned to the court at the opening of the trial. Four of the number were accepted by the state, but remain to be passed on by the defense. Seventy witnesses have been subpoenaed by the state. The trial is expected to last three or four weeks. Since the bank's doors closed 7 per cent dividend has been paid to the creditors by the receiver.

DECLARE STOCK DIVIDEND.

San Francisco, Jan. 18.—A 50 per cent stock dividend was declared today by the Standard Oil company (California) at the regular directors' meeting held at Richmond, Cal. The last annual statement showed a surplus of more than forty millions.

London, Jan. 18.—The second day of the committee stage of the military service bill in the house of commons was chiefly interesting from the fact that it elicited the opinion of Earl Kitchener, secretary of war, that the bill would provide all the men he required to enable him to do all necessary to be done in order to win victory.

CONTINUE CANVASS FOR TRACES OF DISEASE

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—While Christian county has not been placed in quarantine by State authorities, federal inspectors are continuing their canvass for traces of the foot and mouth disease, following the scare at East St. Louis Saturday where ninety three hogs shipped from Taylorville were slaughtered.

RUSS OFFENSIVE IN EAST GALICIA ENDS

Teutons Claim to Hold
All Their Lines on the Eighty Mile Front

ALLIES LAND AT CORINTH

Entente Orders Greece to Hand
Passports to Representatives of Central Powers

CONTINUE ARTILLERY DUEL

The offensive which the Russians launched against the Austro-Hungarians in East Galicia and along the Slesarian frontier Christmas Eve, described as the "New Year's battle" came to an end January 15th according to the Austro-Hungarian war office with the Teutons holding all their lines on the 80-mile front, having inflicted losses on the Russians, estimated at 70,000 men killed or wounded, and 6,000 captured.

That this ends only one phase of the offensive however, is indicated by the Austrian official statement that Russian reinforcements are being thrown into East Galicia. The Austrians all along have considered that the big Russian offensive was taken with political objects in view.

Unofficial advices from Kiev are that the Germans are evacuating Lutsk. Still farther north to the southeast of Riga and south of Widys, the Russians during a snowstorm made surprise attacks against German posts and destroyed them.

From a political point of view Greece has again become a center of great interest. In addition to the report that entente allies have ordered Greece to hand passports to the representatives of the central powers and their allies in the kingdom, comes an assertion that British and French troops have been landed at Corinth, 48 miles west of Athens. Should the latter report prove true the entente allies would have a line of bases almost surrounding Greece—at Saloniki on the east, at Corinth on the south and at Corfu on the west.

With the ending of the Montenegrin campaign by the capitulations by the Montenegrins to the Austrians, hostilities for the moment have ceased in the Balkans.

The British and French on the western line continue their artillery duels with the Germans. Paris reports the shattering of German trenches in the region of Moulins-Sous-Toutvent and the damaging of a German battery in the Vosges, while the British record the destruction of a large portion of the parapets of German trenches with the explosion of a mine near Fricourt. The Germans are declared to have suffered considerably from the effects of the explosion and the shells of the British guns which followed the detonation of the mine. One French and two British aeroplanes have been brought down by the Germans in the western theatre.

The usual artillery engagements continue along the Austro-Italian front.

Violent snowstorms in the Caucasus have not ended the Russian offensive against the Turks who are declared by Constantinople to be battling hard against the superior forces of the invaders.

Petrograd reports the capture of twenty-four Turkish officers and more than 200 men and quantities of rifles, war materials, tents and provisions in this region.

MISS LODAVINE MILLER AND HER BROTHER ARE FOUND GUILTY

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Miss Lodavine Miller and her brother, J. Marion Miller, a lawyer, were found guilty today of operating a confidence game. The crime is punishable by imprisonment from one to ten years. Both were granted their liberty on bonds of $5,000 each, pending the outcome of arguments for a new trial set for February 11.

The Millers were charged with swindling Thomas T. Foulkes, formerly a farmer of Danbury, Iowa, out of $11,312, and two farms valued at $40,000. It was alleged that Foulkes gradually transferred his property to Miss Miller under promise of marriage until he had nothing left and had to go to work as a farm hand.

This was the second trial of the case. The Millers were convicted four years ago, but appealed and were granted new trials.

BOARD REPORTS ON DIVER EXPLOSION

Gas Generated By New Edison Battery is Held Responsible

SPARK ORIGIN UNKNOWN

Only One of the Survivors is Examined As Others Were Not in Condition to Testify

COMMANDER COOK TESTIFIES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Gas generated by the new Edison storage battery and ignited by a spark of unknown origin, is held responsible for the explosions on the Submarine E-2 at the New York navy yard Saturday, which cost the lives of five men and the serious injury of nine others, in a report to Secretary Daniels today by the board of inquiry. Only one of the survivors was examined by the board, as others were not in a condition to testify. Consequently the report is regarded by the secretary as inconclusive.

Findings of the Board.

The findings of the board were made public as follows:
1. The board concludes the explosion was due to an excessive amount of gas, namely hydrogen, generated by the air in a highly explosive mixture. That there were two pockets of this mixture, one at the after end of the battery and the other at the forward end of the forward battery, and it appears that the initial explosion occurred at the after end of the after battery.

2. That the ignition was caused by a spark, the origin of which the board is unable to determine.

3. The exact conditions existing in the battery compartments at the time of the explosion cannot be determined as men in the compartment at the time are too seriously injured to be questioned.

4. The condition of the batteries at the low voltage and amperage, 52 and 710 respectively, at about 12:50 p. m., would probably cause a reversal of voltage in some of the cells and, in the opinion of the board, this caused the generation of an excessive amount of hydrogen gas.

Secretary Daniels said tonight that the work of installing the new Edison batteries on the submarine E-2, now building at the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard, would be continued, at least until the report of the court of inquiry was received.

Four Torpedo Heads on Board.

New York, Jan. 18.—There were four torpedo heads, each containing 120 pounds of gun cotton, on board the United States submarine E-2 at the time of the explosion which caused the death of five men and injuries to nine others at the New York navy yard Saturday, according to the testimony today of Lieutenant Charles M. Cook, commander of the E-2, before the board of inquiry appointed by Secretary Daniels.

Charles M. Cook explained that the gun cotton was wet, and that there was no great danger of it exploding, but members of the crew were praised for extinguishing a fire that started after the explosion. If the fire had continued the gun cotton might have been dried out and become exceedingly liable to explosion.

The court opened its sessions today and the first action of the four members was to descend into the wrecked interior of the E-2.

Lieutenant C. S. McDowell, the first witness, said that the greatest damage was done in the after compartment of the Edison batteries, which were completely "blown up."

Injured Sailor Aids Rescues.

The forward compartment battery also was damaged. When Commander Cook climbed aboard the craft he said he saw Ramon Otto, an electrician of the third class, with a burned face and head, standing at the main hatch assisting the work of rescue. Otto kept up his efforts until ordered to the hospital by Lieutenant Cook, it was testified. The commander said six enlisted men were aboard at the time of the explosion. He thought about nine civilian workers were inside with them.

The discharge had been started about 10 o'clock in the forenoon, he testified, and had given orders that the rate of discharge should be lowered as the voltage decreased. The batteries were charged fully on December 29, Lieutenant Cook said, and they had been used slightly when the ship went into drydock on December 30.

Hudson Maxim, the noted inventor, and Miller Reese Hutchinson, personal representative of Thomas A. Edison, and a number of the naval advisory board, attended the hearings. Mr. Maxim made an inspection of the E-2's interior.

HOUSE ADVANCES ELECTION BILLS

EXPECT TO TAKE FINAL ACTION ON MEASURES TODAY

Proposal Requiring One General
Registration in Chicago. Every Four Years Dies in Committee—
Fate of Good Road Issue Bill
Seems Undetermined.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—With the exception of the measure providing for one general registration in Chicago every four years instead of before each general election, all of the primary and election bills passed by the state senate last week were voted out of committee today and advanced to third reading in the house.

The house expects to take final action on all these measures tomorrow and bring the work of the second special session of the legislature to a close.

Altho practically all of the election bills were advanced today, members of the Republican majority in the house continued to predict tonight that practically none of these measures will be successful on final passage, with the possible exception of the bill to advance the election of judges of the superior court in Cook county from June to April 4, and the bill to eliminate the March 21st registration in Chicago. Even these measures are not positive of passage, it was said.

The general registration bill died in a house committee when it was discovered that the bill would create a new statute and not amend any existing law. It was held that a new law on the subject could not be created under the provisions of Governor Dunne's proclamation calling the special session. Fate of the good road bond issue bill seemed undetermined tonight. There is some opposition to the measure on the part of down state members. Cook county legislators are fighting hard for it, however, as the bill carries a clause to validate the recent $2,000,000 good road bond issue voted in Cook county.

Little opposition is expected to materialize to the measures making an additional foot and mouth appropriation, recreating the state centennial and pension commissions and other minor bills.

Senator Glackin of Cook county offered a resolution in the senate this evening asking Governor Dunne to request the federal government to aid financially the war sufferers in Poland. Action on the resolution was postponed until tomorrow.

ADOPT RESOLUTION FAVORING ADEQUATE PREPAREDNESS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—A resolution favoring adequate preparation for defense and authorizing an investigation of methods by a special committee was adopted unanimously at the close of today's session of the National Civic Federation.

Member of congress, labor leaders and other public figures addressed the federation, most of them voicing the view that the time had come for the United States to strengthen materially its naval and military forces, no matter what might be the cost. Senator Phelan of California characterizing the Japanese on the western coast as "an enemy within our gates against whose expansion we must prepare," asserted that Japanese aggression was a question which would press for solution by force of arm and must for solution by force of arm make up his mind to prepare.

WILL DEFEND COUNTRY.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Representative Louis of New York, the only Socialist in congress told the house today that every socialist in the United States would defend this country if attacked by a foreign foe. His statement was made in a speech on preparedness which attracted wide attention because of the comparative novelty of a Socialist on the floor. Members of the house shouted out attempts to limit Loe's time and spurred him on with questions. Thunderous applause greeted his declaration that the Socialists would fight.

STORM MOVING EASTWARD.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 18.—The storm which has raged thruout southern California since Saturday apparently was moving eastward today over Arizona. Rain had ceased falling at most points. Reports received here increased the death list from the storm to four. The damage was estimated at from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

Many sections of southern California were without means of communication as a result of the damage to the telegraph and telephone systems, while railroad traffic was greatly delayed.

LAMB WITHDRAWS SUIT.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 18.—Garret E. Lamb, the Clinton, Iowa millionaire, today withdrew his suit here against Joseph Leiter of Chicago to recover the houseboat Summer Girl, which Leiter had chartered for a fishing trip down the Mississippi. After a United States marshal had attached the boat and brought it here, Lamb and Leiter reached an agreement under which the fishing trip was continued.

WILSON TO LEAD PREPAREDNESS FIGHT

Determines to Go Before the Country in Public Addresses

TO CONFER FURTHER

President is Undeterred By the Open Opposition of Former Secretary Bryan

MAY CHANGE SOCIAL PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—President Wilson is planning to assume personal leadership in the fight for a stronger army and navy. So many reports have reached him of confusion over the issue before congress and of the uncertainty of the outcome, that he has determined not only to go before the country in public addresses but to confer further on the subject with leaders of the senate and house. Representative Hay and Representative Padgett, chairmen of the house military and naval committees respectively, have informed Mr. Wilson that it will be from six weeks to two months before the committees will be ready to report on army and navy appropriation bills. While this work is going on he proposes to do his utmost to solidify sentiment among people and members of congress in favor of the plans drawn up by the war and navy departments.

Undeterred by Opposition. Friends of the president represent him as being undeterred by the open opposition of Former Secretary Bryan and other pacifists and by difficulties among advocates of national defense over the exact plans to be adopted. He is said to be firmly of the opinion that the program prepared by Secretaries Garrison and Daniels is the best which can be offered at this time.

Plans for the speaking trips will be prepared as quickly as possible. If necessary the president may change the white house social program snapped out before Christmas. Congressional machinery was in full motion today toward the formulation of the bills which finally will be drawn and brought to a vote as a result of the administration's program for strengthening the army and establishing a definite military policy for the nation.

Gen. Wood to Testify.

Before the senate military committee war department's plans were reviewed by Secretary Garrison virtually as he presented them to the house committee last week. Major General Leonard Wood, former chief of staff and now commander of the department of the east, will appear tomorrow to be followed by Major General Carter, retired, author of the most recent work on the military philosophy of the United States.

Brigadier General Aleshire, quartermaster general concluded his testimony before the house committee during the day and was followed by Brig. Gen. Shriver, chief signal officer. The latter was questioned closely about the aviation work of the army.

Indicates Less Opposition.

The trend of Secretary Garrison's examination by the members of the senate committee indicate less opposition there to the plan of the continental army than had been shown in the house committee. Mr. Garrison again urged that the president be allowed wide discretion in the organization of this force, which he said was a task to be accomplished only in the light of experience.

Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the committee with the reservation that he foresaw obstacles to the continental army scheme and had not committed himself to it, suggested that it should be submitted in the form of a general authority conferred upon the president, the work of organization to be carried out under laws and regulations laid down by the war department. Secretary Garrison agreed to this.

ANDREW RUSSEL.

Will Occupy Large Place.

One of the biggest men in the country is to be a candidate for congress from the 11th district in Georgia. His name is W. T. Brinson and until a few weeks ago he weighed 600 pounds, but worry and trouble in caring for a great cotton crop on his plantation reduced his weight to 585 pounds. They will certainly need a big seat in the house for Mr. Brinson if he happens to get the necessary votes at the November election.

Hadley May Withdraw.

There is a possibility that former Governor Hadley of Missouri who recently announced his candidacy for the senate, may have to give up his campaign. Mr. Hadley contracted a severe cold before the holidays and while his condition is not dangerous, his physicians have recommended that he remain until spring in some mild climate. His friends have the feeling that his condition will not be such as would permit his undertaking the strain and tedium of a campaign even after his recovery. This is not a case of trumped up illness in order to provide an excuse for a graceful withdrawal, for the former governor is very popular with his party in Missouri and had a most excellent chance of securing the nomination. His chances of election would also be excellent.

School Discipline.

Dissatisfied with conditions about their school house and grounds 400 pupils of the Henry Clay school at a Chicago suburb have gone on a strike and declined to attend recitations. Meanwhile classes are being maintained for the remaining 150 pupils. The 400, judging from indications, have the support of their parents in the action taken for the plan was determined upon at a public meeting held before the strike was declared. Since discipline is the first principle upon which an educational institution must be managed, one wonders what the condition can be at this school, where parents and pupils are in an alliance to dictate terms to the school authorities. School alliances should be between parents and school officials.

Rippling Rhymes By WALT MASON

TRULY GOOD.

If I could read my title clear, to manions in the skies, I would not get too cheery here, or shy at sinful guys. Too many good men seem to wear a halo o'er their brow, and in their every act declare, "I'm holier than thou." Too many have no patience with the gent who goes astray, with Jones or Robinson or Smith, who jumps the narrow way. They have for such a stern rebuke, from love and kindness free; while Matthew, Mark, and John and Luke are preaching charity. They have the frozen face for all whose sins have brought distress, while that good scout, Apostle Paul, is boasting gentleness. Since they have won their diadem, at bargain counter cost, it surely cuts no ice with them, if other souls are lost. "We have secured our harps and crowns," their actions seem to say, "and we'll exchange our hand-me-downs for snowy robes some day. The pathway to the golden gates lies plain before all men; we have no patience with skates who stray, and stray again!" And yet it may be that the boys whose feet have wandered wide, will corral all the choicest joys that heaven can provide.

which had been termed impossible by various predecessors in office and by the chief executives of the capital city. His recent action is not so important but indicates that the Sangamon county sheriff believes in blazing new paths in the transaction of his official duties. He put into force an honor system, and in accordance with it took a large number of prisoners from the jail Monday night and accompanied them to the tabernacle of the Chapman-Alexander revival meetings which are now in progress in Springfield. The men were all on their good behavior and none of them tried to escape.

The sheriff is much interested in the meetings and is said to have had the feeling that the effect on his prisoners might be good. The plan of taking prayer meetings to the prisoners has often been tried, but this is the first remembered instance of working the plan the other way.

REV. W. J. RAINEY PASSES AWAY IN PRESBYTERIAN HOSPITAL, CHICAGO

Pastor of the Pisgah Presbyterian Church Passes Away Monday Night—Burial at Harbor Springs, Mich.

The Rev. W. J. Rainey of Orleans, pastor of Pisgah Presbyterian church, died Monday night at the Presbyterian hospital in Chicago, where he had gone for treatment for a throat affection just a week before. He first suffered an attack of laryngitis and later the throat trouble developed. Mrs. Rainey had received word of a turn for the worse and left Monday morning for her husband's bedside. She was delayed somewhat by late trains and Mr. Rainey had passed into unconsciousness when she arrived.

Mr. Rainey was born in Ireland and was about 60 years of age. He is survived by his widow and a son of four years, Pringle Rainey. Mr. Rainey came to Orleans from Middleton, Ill., and has held the Pisgah charge a little more than three years.

The body will leave Chicago this evening for Harbor Springs, Mich., and funeral services will be held Thursday. Mr. Rainey held a pastorate at Harbor Springs for eight years.

Members of Pisgah church and friends of Mr. Rainey were greatly shocked Tuesday morning to hear of the minister's death. He was a man of exemplary life and as a minister was able and industrious.

Some Topics of the Farm

COULTAS SALE TOTALED ABOUT FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS

Livestock Sold at Splendid Prices—Mr. Coultas to Live in South Jacksonville.

The public sale held by R. R. Coultas attracted a very large company of buyers Tuesday notwithstanding the condition of the country roads. Prices were uniformly satisfactory and the sale totaled approximately $5000. It was well known that all of the stock and implements offered by Mr. Coultas were of high grade and quality, and for that reason there were a number of buyers from a considerable distance. All the implements sold at good prices and the livestock at exceptional figures. One cow and calf, brought $120, another cow $97; hogs weighing 250 lbs. sold at about 7 cents a pound and these prices give a very fair idea of those which ruled. Jerry Cox and Jed Cox were the auctioneers and the clerks were R. R. Stevenson and Charles B. Graff. A lunch was served by the ladies of the Christian church.

The farm on which Mr. Coultas has been living for an extended period belonged to the estate of the late James Woods and has recently come under the control of R. S. Woods. It is understood that it has been leased the coming year to Mr. Cox, a nephew of the present owner. Mr. Coultas will give up farming for the present and will occupy a residence in South Jacksonville.

Eight hundred bushels of corn in crib sold at 61 1-2c, the purchaser being Mr. Cox, who is to operate the farm. Some alfalfa hay sold at 46c a bale and timothy hay at 72c. A small stack of alfalfa which was not in good condition was purchased by Mr. Gibson for $15.

Some of the stock sales were as follows:

Charles Davis, cow, $97.
C. W. Crouse, cow and calf, $120.
Charles Davis, cow, $96.
Charles West, heifer, $30.
S. B. Kumble, cow, $75.
Charles Davis, cow, $65.
A. D. Arnold, heifer, $60.50.
Harris & Son, cow, $59.
Frank Mawson, cow and calf, $75.
Clifford James, heifer, $42.50.
Andrew Harris, cow, $74; calf, $22.25; cow, $67.50; cow, $50.25.
Edward Curry, cow, $33.
Frank Todd, two steers, $49.50 each; two heifers, $61.50 each.
William Arnold, steer, $73.50.
Charles Ranson, calf, $46.
A. D. Arnold, heifer, $50.
Reidy & Hanrahan, three heifers, $139.50.
C. E. James, calf, $30.50.
Clifford James, cow, $31.
The horses brought exceptionally good prices, the highest being paid by William Crawley who gave $205 for a ten year old black mare.
Other purchases were as follows:
E. A. Sawtelle, brown horse, $170.
William Fuller, bay mare, $72.50.
Reidy & Hanrahan, mare, $100.
Crea Smith, mare, $96.50.
A. W. Marshall, team mules, $350.
James M. Congriff, horse, $170.
Reidy & Hanrahan, mare, $50.

Cattle Estimate.

Washington Jan. 18.—The department of agriculture's annual estimate of farm cattle in the country Jan. 1, issued today, shows 21,988,000 milk cows, an increase of 3.4 per cent over 1915; 39,453,000 other cattle, an increase of 6.4 per cent; 49,162,000 sheep, a decrease of 1.6 per cent, and 68,074,000 swine, an increase of 1.3 per cent.

NORTHERN ILLINOIS

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—Fully eighty per cent of the corn in northern Illinois is soft according to B. M. Davison, secretary of the state board of agriculture, who is discussing the subject, today said the usual amount of soft corn was due to early frosts and heavy late rains which retarded the ripening of the grain.

"If the corn is fed as part of a properly balanced ration cattle should not be affected beyond a slight intestinal difficulty," said Mr. Davison. "The real trouble with corn in the spring and summer, after the corn has dried out. This will develop a black, dry mold which will kill hogs as fast as it is fed to them. The mold makes the stock swell up until they fairly burst open."

Only a slight percentage—nothing unusual of the corn in the central part of the state is soft, according to Mr. Davison, and practically none at all in southern Illinois.

MORE BUTCHERING NOTES.

Butcher hogs at home. Give them water but no feed for a day before killing. Bleed the hog with an eight-inch straight bladed knife. Be sure bleeding is done before scalding or the skin may be left too red.

A heavy blow with an ax between the eyes will stun the animal before sticking. The meat may spoil if the animal is excited before killing, or the weather is warm afterwards. Scrape as quickly and rapidly as possible after scalding. The cold carcass is hard to scrape well.

DISCUSSES WAR OUTLOOK.

London, Jan. 18.—Lord Derby received the correspondent of The Associated Press at the war office this afternoon and for half an hour discussed the war outlook resulting from the Derby recruiting scheme and the compulsory military service bill, more particularly their effect in assuring the prosecution of the war to a successful conclusion.

Mrs. Jerome Culp of Woodson was a visitor in the city yesterday.

Bleeding will be finished more quickly if the animal lies on a steep slope with its head down hill.

Keep the hog moving in the barrel. If the animal is left pressed against the barrel the hot water cannot get at that part of the carcass.

Scraping is easier if a shovelful of hardwood ashes, a lump of lime, some concentrated lye, or a handful of soft soap has been added to the water.

Use a thermometer. Do not attempt to scald with the water at above 150 degrees. A good scald can be obtained at 140 degrees but it takes longer.

In opening the carcass, split the pelvic bone between the hams with a knife by cutting exactly in the center. To open the breastbone with a knife cut a little to one side of the center, but do not let the point of the knife get behind a rib.

These methods are used at the Missouri College of Agriculture where students are taught the principles and practice of home butchering and curing. There is nothing to prevent the farmer from having the best without the extravagance of big store bills for salt pork. Both he and the storekeeper will profit if he cures meat for his own table and uses the money saved to buy things he wouldn't otherwise get.

Wasted Heroism.

The pathetic thing about the world is not that there is so little heroism, but that there is so much heroism that is useless.

What are the causes of useless sacrifices? What things make all this wasted heroism? Let us see.

First, is fear. If a danger is inevitable we shall meet it all the better if we approach it unafraid. If it is not sure, fear is vain. In any case, fear disturbs the judgment, weakens the moral force and doubles the dangers.

Then comes ignorance. Our first duty is not to follow our convictions, but to have rational convictions. Let us first find out whether the things we believe are facts and not inventions. A little time spent in honest investigation will save us a deal of misery.

Ask yourself, "What is worth while?" Examine all apparent duties by the light of the greater issues of life. Let health and love and tomorrow have their say. There's many a nonsensical duty we take up which we would never have considered if we had looked at it from the larger, higher viewpoint.

Two good questions to ask one's self are: "What is the use?" and "How will this look to me in ten years from now?" Time is the test that is surest.

There are sacrifices that are unavoidable, and the making of them enables us. There are plenty of occasions for heroism, many loads that we ought to bear. But enough are called for by intelligence and a well ordered conscience, without manufacturing fictitious struggles.—Dr. Frank Crane, in Woman's World for February.

Good Roads Argument.

There was a large attendance at the Coultas sale Tuesday and a great many of the men who were there waited for miles over rough roads rather than suffer the annoyance of riding over those same roads. If there were any farmers there who had not previously been converted to the need for better roads in this country, they had a change of heart yesterday and realized how much road betterments would mean in a mere commercial way. To say nothing of the resulting comfort of travel. Between the end of the Vandalia road and Mr. Coultas' home, two miles distant, one or two vehicles had shattered wheels, some farmers were traveling on horseback and many more walked.

It was possible to get comfortable footing only at the extreme side of the road where the grass had been allowed to grow. For a part of the distance the road had been dragged prior to the falling temperature, but as has happened in a number of instances, the dragged road was not free from travel until the freeze came, and as a result it was just as rough as the remainder of the highway. Yes, yesterday was a fine day to preach high road improvements but the trouble is that many who had discomfort in travel yesterday will forget it soon after the season of summer roads come.

Where Stockmen Meet.

Frank E. Drury has been urged by John M. Evard of Iowa State college to elude the short course there from Jan. 31 to Feb. 5. Much as he would like to attend, Mr. Drury will probably be unable to arrange his plans so that he can get away. The short course at the Iowa college is especially good, as the work of the regular faculty is augmented by leading specialists from other states. But the principal value to an experienced farmer and stockman like Mr. Drury is found in meeting other men of experience and talking over what they are doing on their respective farms. The short course for farmers at the various state universities are attended largely by mature men, and each year these special courses are attracting more and more attention. Mr. Drury has no cattle this year, but does have 900 head of hogs on his place, so that he does not feel that he can get away at this time.

Larimer, are valued at $5,000, fully insured; the Palmer stock at $25,000 and insured for $13,000, and the value of the Handler stock is placed at $10,000 with $5,000 insurance.

A PRAYER FOR PEACE.

S. A. Hughes of 216 South church street has sent the following communication and poem to The Journal voicing a widespread heart feeling for peace across the sea:

In times of war and preparations for war, when war is the topic most discussed by all classes, there lies dormant in the hearts of all a universal desire for peace.

The lines enclosed I believe breathe that desire and I submit them to you if you choose to use them in the hope that they reach the hearts of all and help to bring them to join in this universal prayer for peace.

The lines are original and from my own heart they come.

Very respectfully,
S. A. HUGHES.

A Universal Prayer.

Our God we invoke Thee,
By Thy might and Thy power
Stay the spirit of hate
That is broadcast this hour.

Our God we invoke Thee,
Stay the hand of a brother,
Who maddened by gore
Would strike down another.

Our God we invoke Thee,
By Thy might and Thy power,
Quell the spirit of hatred,
Let Love rule the hour.

Our God we invoke Thee,
Not with bayonet and dart,
Stop this dire carnage;
Quench the hate in each heart.

Our God we invoke Thee,
Arise in Thy might;
Stretch out Thy great arm,
Speak "Let there be light."

Our God we invoke Thee,
Let Thy mercies increase;
Prepare not for war;
Oh, prepare us for peace.

Our God we invoke Thee,
Oh, not by the sword,
Our battles to win,
But the power of Thy word.

S. ADRIAN HUGHES.

ARREST YOUNG MAN WHO SENT INCOHERENT MESSAGES TO WILSON

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Joseph Dolansky, 24 years old, who says his home is in St. Louis, was arrested here today by federal secret service agents who want an explanation of incoherent telegrams he had sent to President Wilson.

According to the police, Dolansky sent strangely worded messages to the president from various parts of the country. When arrested he had in one of his pockets a newspaper clipping stating he had paid $100 for one telegram he had sent the president. He will be examined by physicians to determine his mental condition.

IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE AT BARACKS

The Salvation Army Headquarters to Be Remodeled and Greatly Improved.

One of the most energetic and successful officers in charge of the local work of the Salvation Army is Captain Mace, now at the head here, and he has great things in mind. His work so far has been very encouraging. He has faithfully ministered to both soul and body and has accomplished much. At holiday time he was most successful in sending aid to worthy persons and he is all the time at work in the good cause. At present he has in mind greatly needed improvements in the barracks now used and the parsonage.

It is his plan to excavate under the building and have a finished basement with gymnasium, bath room and various conveniences for carrying on the work in a suitable manner. Then the upper room will receive some attention as well as the parsonage. Captain Mace is a practical man and well qualified for the work and the results of his labors so far have been such as to commend him to the confidence of the people of the city.

Were all persons to listen to his teaching and act accordingly the police would soon be out of business, the jails would be empty and tramps would be unknown. The captain well deserves the support and confidence of the people and should be vigorously upheld in the work he has in mind.

Edwin Horton was enjoying his new skates Saturday evening with Glen Hembrough.

Mrs. C. E. Reynolds of near Cross Roads has been suffering with the grip for the past two weeks. Hope she will be soon enjoying good health.

James R. Hembrough was called to Bronson, Kan., on account of the serious illness of his sister, Mrs. Lee Smith.

Chauncey Carter, John Wasson, Dean Hembrough were calling on J. H. Scott Saturday morning.

"I DON'T SUFFER ANY MORE"

"Feel Like a New Person," says Mrs. Hamilton.

New Castle, Ind.—"From the time I was eleven years old until I was seventeen I suffered each month so I had to be in bed. I had headache, backache and such pains I would cramp double every month. I did not know what it was to be easy a minute. My health was all run down and the doctors did not do me any good. A neighbor told my mother about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it, and now I feel like a new person. I don't suffer any more and I am regular every month."—Mrs. HAZEL HAMILTON, 822 South 15th St.

When a remedy has lived for forty years, steadily growing in popularity and influence, and thousands upon thousands of women declare they owe their health to it, it is not reasonable to believe that it is an article of great merit?

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

FATHER MARQUETTE'S HISTORY IS RECALLED

Henry P. Day Writes About Early Days in This State.

Henry P. Day in the Peoria Star has the following interesting historical story.

FATHER MARQUETTE

His Own Account of His Trip Up the Illinois River.

Editor Peoria Star: So far as known the first white men to visit Illinois, the Illinois river and Peoria were Father Marquette and Sleur Joliet and their five companions, Frenchmen from Canada. It was in 1673, and they first voyaged thru the great lakes and descended the Wisconsin river to the Mississippi, which they reached on June 17 of that year. They descended the latter as far as the village of Arkansas and then returning entered the Illinois river, and voyaged up its course till they were able to reach Lake Michigan, then called the lake of the Illinois.

In his own account of his explorations, Father Marquette wrote:

"After a month's navigation down the Mississippi and after having published the gospel as well as I could to the natives I had met, we left the village of Arkansas on the 17th of July to retrace our steps. We accordingly, ascended the Mississippi which gave us great trouble to stem its currents. We left it, indeed, about the 28th degree, to enter another river (the Illinois), which greatly shortened our way, and brought us, with little trouble, to the lake of the Illinois (as Lake Michigan was early called).

"We have seen nothing like this river for the fertility of the land, its prairies, woods, stag, deer, wildcats, bustards, swans, ducks, parrots and even beaver; its many little lakes and rivers. That on which we sailed is broad, deep and gentle for 65 leagues. During the spring and part of the summer, the only portage is a half a league.

"We found there an Illinois town (a few miles below Ottawa), called Kaskaskia, composed of 74 cabins; they received us well, and compelled me to promise to return and instruct them. One of the chiefs of this tribe, with his young men, escorted us to the Illinois lake, whence at last we returned in the close of September to the bay of Fetid (Green Bay), whence we had set out in the beginning of June.

"Had all this voyage caused but the salvation of a single soul, I should deem all my fatigue well repaid, and this I have reason to think, for when I was returning I passed by the Indians of Peoria. I was three days announcing the faith in all their cabins, after which, as we were embarking, they brought me on the water's edge a dying child, which I baptized a little before by an admirable Providence, the salvation of that innocent Father Marquette at To say Illinois is, guage, to say the Indians compared to beasts, and it must be, they have an air of we had not remarked nations that we had way. ## LIVESTOCK BREEDERS' BEGAN ANNUAL SESSION

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—Opening sessions of the general convention of the Illinois Live Stock Breeders' association were held here this morning with stock men from all sections of the state in attendance. The organization having discussed the foot and mouth disease at a preliminary conference last night was prepared to devote today and tomorrow to topics of more or less technical and special nature.

After the usual addresses of welcome and responses this morning, Charles Adkins of Bement, president of the organization, delivered his annual address and then made the report of the secretary, Dr. A. T. Peters of Peoria. Committees were appointed also.

The first of the subsidiary organizations, the Sheep Breeders' association, then convened. Its members heard Prof. Howard Hackedorn of the University of Missouri, discuss "Modern Lamb Raising".

Early this afternoon the Cattle Breeders' association went into session. Its program called for nearly a dozen set addresses which, however, were to be generally brief. Among the listed speakers were J. G. Imboden, Decatur, who was to discuss "The Long and Short Feed", and J. A. Berreman, Aurora.

Tonight there will be a general session which will hear an address on co-operation by Millard R. Myers, Chicago.

ENCOURAGING FOR GOLFERS.

The interest manifested in golf at the meeting Monday night still continues to increase and prospects are that a thousand dollars will be secured by those soliciting to be used in preparing the grounds for the game. It is said that with improved links there will be a great impetus in the interest manifested in golf and a great many additional players will seek the links this summer. As it is now there is not enough room for all those who some days have wanted to play at the same time, but with the contemplated improvements completed the links will be among the best in the state.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Death has entered our corps again and taken from us one of our dearest and most faithful members, Mrs. Sophia Benson, who had been ill for some time and passed away the first of the month. She was a lovely Christian woman and one of the oldest and most loyal members of the corps. Our hearts are sad and we shall miss her for all loved her. Therefore, we, the committee of the Woman's Relief Corps, adopt the following resolutions:

Be It Resolved, That in her death our corps has lost one of its most faithful and loyal members.
Be It Resolved, That we extend to her children and all the dear ones left our heartfelt and deepest sympathy and commend them to our heavenly father in this sad hour.

Also, Be It Resolved, That we send a copy of these resolutions to each of her sons, one to the local newspaper and one to the Illinois W. R. C. Gazette.

Naomi R. Whorton,
Eva Wells,
Belle Hopper,
Committee.

KANSAS CITY MARKETS.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Jan. 18.—Lighter receipts of thin cattle and a stronger market in beef steers put considerable snap into the stocker and feeder trade last week and the close was 13c to 25c higher. Sales of stock steers ranged from $5.75 to $7.90 and of feeders from $6.75 to $8.15, the latter price paid by an Illinois man for some choice 1100 lb. white faces. Total output was 14,000 head, 1,000 more than in previous week, but 4,000 less than same week last year. The supply today is 13,000 cattle, market strong to 15c higher. Several strings of good to choice Colorado yearlings and two were included, which sold at $6.75 to $7.65. The demand recently has shifted from breeding cattle to steers. More buyers are coming from east of the Mississippi river than heretofore, shipments going to Ohio and Pennsylvania recently, and Lancaster county, Pa., being a good buyer, and inquiries are coming from Kentucky and other sections pretty well east. Kansas and Missouri continue to invest heavily and in the last week the demand has run to steers weighing 800 to 1,000 pounds, the intention in most cases being to rough through and put on grass next summer. Of course, a large percentage of breeding stock is going out, cows and heifers costing 35 to $6.75, choice heifers more in some cases. The strong position of the beef cattle market and the promise of a continued good outlet for meat is being reflected in the stocker and feeder market more strongly than might ordinarily be expected because of plenty of feed on hand. Quality of the winter supply of stock cattle here is above the average this winter, especially today, when between fifty and sixty cars of high bred Colorado stockers and feeders were offered on the market.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Oliver S. Green with Walter Bros., Union Stock Yards, reports the estimated receipts for Monday, Jan. 17: 24,000 cattle, 68,000 hogs, 28,000 sheep. Best steer trade met with good action in the early rounds. Packers and shippers bought freely. On account of the heavy weather many trains were late arriving. Only a small share of the crop sold at noon. Prime bullocks were very scarce. Bulk of the sales were from 7.50 to 8.75. Very few light cattle sold under 7.25. Best grades wanted and sold at 10 to 15c higher.

Butcher stock was strong. Canners slow. Bulls higher. Calves steady to lower.

Hogs opened strong with best time last Saturday. The run was several thousand less than expected. Quality showed some improvement. The late market was 10 to 15c higher with top at 7.45. Shippers had liberal orders and bought freely.

Yearling sheep ruled steady. Aged ewes making a strong basis. Lambs 10 to 25c lower. Packers started out with the determination of buying lambs lower. Several loads of lambs made 10.75.

Best cattle today weighed 1375 and sold at 9.50, with several loads at 9c. Yearlings weighing 890 to 900 made 9 to 9.10.

MUCH INTEREST MANIFEST IN PERIODICALS FOR JANUARY

War in Europe Overshadows Other Matters to Less Degree Than Formerly—Three Gift Magazines at Public Library—Some Notable Articles.

The still the subject of many periodical contributors, the war in Europe is occupying relatively less space in the current magazines and various publications for January as represented at the public library, show wide variety. Subscriptions to three magazines have recently come to the library as gifts, the women's home companion, "Home Progress Magazine" and "The Builder," a Masonic publication.

In the World's Work for January Burton J. Hendricks writes on the subject, "Shall We Have Responsible Government." Mr. Hendricks speaks of the pork barrel in unflattering terms, citing the Trinity river project as one of the most flagrant sins against the public good. "It is a farce, but we want the money spent down here" was the dictum of a prominent Texas politician regarding this provision of a rivers and harbors appropriation.

The Atlantic for January contains an article by Stephen Chalmers on "The Beloved Physician," an appreciation of Edward Leighton Trudeau. A number have spoken of this article and inquiries have been received regarding Trudeau and his life.

The Century had an article by Eric Fisher Wood on "The Nation on Trial 1860-1916."

The Craftsman has a fascinating article on "The Russian Ballet."

In Good Housekeeping for January is an article on the value of oranges as food. The list of recipes tested and applied includes Banbury tarts, baked ham with apples, wheat pancakes and others which the housewife will enjoy.

This month's Harper's has a strong plea for the American Tradition by the author, Winston Spencer Churchill.

In the Home Progress magazine is a sketch on "The Woodpecker as a Worker," "The Red Breasted Nuthatch," and on "The Purple Martin."

In the current Dial is a most intelligent and understanding review of the work of Rupert Brooke.

In the Current Opinion for January is an article by Brand Whitlock on "American Quality in American Literature." When Brand Whitlock went to Belgium as American minister he went with the hope of having a quiet, peaceful time with plenty of leisure for creative writing. His writing has been largely diplomatic protest, inquiries and appeals. However, last month he read a paper before the national institute of arts and letters, of which a good review is given in this issue of Current Opinion.

NAPLES.

The river now is at a fair stage, full of floating ice and snow, but on account of cold is not rising.

Joseph Stabler, our barber, has been sick several weeks. He is gradually growing weaker and Monday became unconscious.

The two or three children having scarlet fever are getting along nicely.

Mr. Smith, a traveling man of Jacksonville, was calling on our merchants on the 14th inst.

We saw a man on the street Friday carrying a fine large German carp home for dinner. It was over two feet long and was just caught out of the river.

Not much corn coming to the elevators now. Horse shoers are too scarce. Farmers think rubber over-shoes are cheaper, and they walk and slide into town.

Later: Joe Stabler has just died.

Walter B. Miser, general manager of the Jacksonville Railway and Light company, was in Louisiana, Mo., on business yesterday.

MOTHER! GIVE CHILD "SYRUP OF FIGS" IF TONGUE IS COATED

If Cross, Feverish, Sick, Billious, Clean Little Liver and Bowels.

Children love this "Fruit Laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, does not eat, sleep or act natural, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs", and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs", which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

ARCADIA.

On account of the sudden change of the weather there is quite a bit of sickness in this neighborhood, but Dr. Obermeyer is keeping things straightened out as well as possible.

Jed Vincent and Fred McFadden have been busy the past week getting in their winter wood and they are now sitting by the fire taking life easy.

Mr. and Mrs. George Decker made a business trip to Virginia Saturday. The Saturday Night club has died out almost as quick as it began and we know not whether it is the lack of interest or the bad weather but we will lay it to the weather.

Quite a number from this vicinity were shopping in the city Saturday.

William Jones and John Ginder of the Bend passed through the village Thursday on their way to Jacksonville, where they attended the sale of Bart Johnson's farm.

C. L. Neill had quite an accident Saturday morning. While hauling coal from Litchberry his wagon started to take a slide on the ice, but stopped very suddenly when it came in contact with a clod of dirt and one wheel was smashed and Mr. Neill had to borrow a wagon to get home.

The friends of Richard Jewsbury were surprised to hear of his sudden sickness and death. He was taken sick Friday morning and died Sunday morning at 8 o'clock. No one but the neighbors had even heard of his sickness. He was one of the oldest members of the Arcadia lodge of Odd Fellows No. 92.

Ellis Thompson and family entertained a number of their friends at a coasting and skating party Friday night. There were quite a number present and all had a fine time. Mich Willis attended the dance given at the hall in Virginia Friday night by the Virginia club.

COURT OF HONOR MEETING
The meeting of the Court of Honor Monday evening was well attended and a very pleasant time was enjoyed by every one present. Prizes were given for various purposes, one for the best looking lady and one for the best looking gentleman. Mrs. Roy Ayers took the former and E. E. Hatfield the latter. During the evening refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour was much enjoyed.

J. A. Crum attended the funeral of Richard S. Jewsbury at Arcadia yesterday.

OBITUARY OF
MRS. W. B. MARKHAM

In memory of Mrs. William B. Markham, who passed from this life into that of the great beyond at her home in Chapin, Ill., at 1:40 p. m. Sunday, Jan. 9, 1916.

Miss Harriett Janet Williams was born near Morgan City in this county May 7, 1843. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wel Williams and was one of a family of four children. Two sisters, Mrs. Oliver Hatfield and Mrs. Elzina Williams have preceded her in death and her only brother, C. E. Williams of Chapin, still survives. She was united in marriage to William B. Markham Feb. 20, 1868.

This union were born five children, Effie J., Thomas U., Anna Emily, wife of Horace C. Anderson; Frances, deceased, and H. Helen, all of Chapin. Deceased is also survived by three grandchildren, Lloyd, Doris and Verne Anderson.

Mrs. Markham had been a member of the Christian church for more than forty years. During all that time she was ever a sincere and earnest Christian, always faithful in her attendance at church services until of late years when failing health prevented her attending.

The funeral services were held from the family residence in Chapin Tuesday, Jan. 11, at 2 p. m. They were conducted by Elder W. H. Cannon of Decatur, Ill., a former pastor of the deceased, who spoke many comforting words to the heart-stricken family and sorrowing friends. He was assisted by Elder L. Hadaway, pastor of the Chapin Christian church.

At the close of the services Mr. Wallace Tuttle of Springfield, Ohio, sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," a favorite song of Mrs. Markham. There were many beautiful floral offerings from sympathetic friends and these were cared for by Mrs. Frank Burnham and Mrs. Montie Funk.

She was laid to rest in Jordan cemetery by the side of her daughter Frances.

The pallbearers were H. C. Brownlaw, John Griffin, S. T. Paschall, Jacob Hoover, H. O. Smith and T. H. Stone.

Prof. W. R. Hatfield of Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. Emily Goodall of Morrison, Ill., and Mrs. Joseph Brennan of Jacksonville, Ill., were among the relatives from out of town who were in attendance at the funeral.

Mrs. Markham's life was one of purity, sweetness and unselfishness. Her quiet sweetness blessed her whole household. She always had a smile for everyone and by her kind words and actions has cast a wondrous influence not only in her own home, but among her many friends and acquaintances as well. She was a quiet and patient sufferer. Altho the pain was almost unbearable at times she never complained.

Her life was indeed a sweet song of love for the loved ones in her own home. She was always kind and loving to her grandchildren, and had a very warm affection for all children. Only a few weeks prior to her death did she send a little dress to the orphan's home in St. Louis for some little motherless child.

Mrs. Markham has gone from us, but she leaves a precious memory, which shall be treasured not only by her own family but by hosts of friends. She has fought a good fight; she has finished the course; she has kept the faith, and now is at peace in the arms of her Savior.

MERRITT.

Mrs. John Hawks was called to the bedside of her niece, Miss Mary Trickey, in Winchester, who is seriously ill.

W. L. Breeding was a business visitor in Jacksonville Saturday. The second series of 10c socials given by the Aid society will be held in the church next Thursday evening. Good hot hamburger sandwiches and coffee will be served for the sum of 10c. Everybody cordially invited.

Misses Georgia and Ella Hawk spent Sunday in Winchester.

Our pastor was not able to fill his appointment here again Sunday. However, he is some better at this writing.

There were thirty-seven present at Sunday school Sunday. There are five more Sundays until the contest closes. The males are far in the lead.

MOTHER IS ILL.

LAND O'NOD STORIES

THE ANTS' DAIRY.

"Come on your majesty, it is time we were getting back to the city," said the captain of the guard when the Queen of the Ants had milked so many aphids or ant cows that her crop was swollen to twice its natural size.

"Well, if you say so, I suppose I must go," grumbled the Queen, and she turned and started down the stalk of the rose bush, followed by Billy Be By Bo Bum and Tinker Teedle Tee.

"Would you like to stop in and see our dairy on the way back?" asked the Queen when they reached the ground.

"Why I thought we just came from the dairy," said Billy.

"Gracious no," replied the Queen. "That was only one of our herds out to pasture. We milk them in good weather, but our real dairy on which we depend for our main supply of milk is underground and the cows never see the sun from one year's end to the other. What do you say captain, do you mind if we return to the city by the way of the dairy?"

"Not at all," replied the leader of the guard, and he led the way to the mouth of a tunnel hidden between the roots of the rosebush. Billy and Tinker followed, and before they had gone very far the tunnel widened out into a big room and the walls and roof and floor of which were broken by the roots of the rosebush that grew above. And these roots were covered by hundreds and hundreds of aphids or ant cows, their sharp beaks fastened in the tender bark drinking the sweet sap, while dozens of worker ants were satisfying their hunger by milking the cows.

"This is our main dairy," said the Queen proudly. "You see the workers do not have time to go out and forage for their food, so when they get hungry they come here and fill up on milk."

"But how did you get such a big herd of cows way down here underground?" asked Billy Be By Bo Bum.

"How does any farmer get a herd of cows?" asked the Queen by way of answer.

"He raises them, of course."

"And that is how we get our cows," replied the Queen.

"Now you're trying to josh me," protested Billy. "You can't come here and raise a herd of cows as a farmer raises his calves."

"I don't care whether you believe it or not," retorted the Queen, who was just a wee bit provoked that Billy should think she was telling him something that was not so. "And if you will think a minute, you will realize that there is nothing so very strange about it after all. It's not half so wonderful as many other things you have seen since you came to Antland."

"That is so," agreed Billy, "but for the life of me I don't understand how you can raise a herd of cows way down here underground." "In the Spring and Summer the Aphids lay their eggs on the stalks and leaves of the rosebushes," replied the Queen. "Every gardener knows all about it, for he calls my cows plant lice and tries to kill the eggs and baby cows with smoke and other horrid poisons. One fine day the Shepherds, those worker ants whose duty it is to care for the cows, go up and carry the eggs down into the city. The nursemaids care for the eggs just as carefully as they do for those I lay myself, and when the baby cows hatch out, they are tended and fed until they are old enough to care for themselves. Then the Shepherds place the young Aphids on the roots of the rosebushes where they live all Winter, feeding on the sweet sap, and we always have a supply of fresh milk on hand."

Now out in Colorado we have a family of cousins called the Honey Ants who do not have to depend on a herd of cows for their milk. Like the Aphids, they feed on the sweet sap of bushes and young trees, but instead of converting this sap into milk, as do the Aphids, they transform it into honey as good and sweet as that made by any bee. In fact it is so good that the Indians eat it and regard it as a great delicacy."

"You mean to say people eat ants' honey?" asked Billy in surprise.

"They do more than that," replied the Queen. "They not only eat the honey, but the ants who made it."

"Eat the ants?" exclaimed Billy. "Yes sir, and they like it better than candy. Why Billy Boy, if you were to visit an Indian and he wanted to give you something especially good to eat to show his friendship, he would set before you a dish of Honey Ants which you would be supposed to eat, honey, ants and all, as you would candy."

"These ants are wonderful diggers, for they hollow out their homes in the sandstone rocks. Now I think it is mighty hard work digging in the dirt, but just imagine cutting galleries and rooms out of solid rock. It makes me faint even to think of such a thing. If you cut open one of these cities, you would find all the passages led to one central room, the roof of which would be covered with ants, clinging to the ceiling like flies, their bodies swollen to many times their natural size by honey. If you were an Indian, you would give a whoop of joy when you uncovered the nest and scoop up the gorged ants and eat them."

"Well I'm not an Indian, thank goodness," said Billy. "And altho I'm very fond of honey, I do not care to eat the busy workers who made it. So I guess I'll stick to the bees for my honey."

"Every one to his own taste," said the Queen, as they resumed their journey back to the city, and next week I'll tell you about the Marriage Flight.

follow the events thru the season in a way to serve fairly well the necessities of the case enabling him to learn for himself and for the fruit-growers of his region about when spraying should be done and how often repeated to protect his crop."

THE CODLING MOTH
DISCUSSED BY DR. FORBES

In an address to the State Horticultural Society at its recent meeting in Champaign, Dr. S. A. Forbes, State Entomologist, gave a report on experiments his office had carried forward to learn more of the life history of the Codling Moth.

After reviewing a few of the elementary facts in the life history and economy of the insect Dr. Forbes continued:

"Two questions of special practical interest present themselves: one, the number of generations in a year; and the other, the time when the eggs of each generation hatch to give out the young worms. To these we may add a third question, as to variations in the number of generations and the time when the young larvae of each appear in different parts of the state, and in successive years of unlike weather conditions. It was the main object of our work of this year to answer these questions as definitely as possible after a single season's precise experiments."

"We can now say positively that there are two complete generations of the codling moth in both central and southern Illinois this season and that there was a small or partial third generation at Olney and farther south. We can say further more that the temperature of the season has very much to do with the rate at which the successive changes go on, the time when the different generations make their appearance, reach their largest numbers, and disappear, and the size and importance of the last or third generation of the year. It is also certain, as you will know yourselves, that last year was a different year from this present year in southern Illinois in respect not only to temperature and other weather conditions, but also to numbers and importance of the last generation of the codling moth. Finally, we are convinced that the nice and successful timing of spraying operations to the life history of the insect, such that effective poisons shall be on the apples when they are most needed and will be most destructive to the young apple worms, requires a careful and intelligent observation of the course of events for each year, since no two years can be exactly alike and one can never tell in advance what sort of a season to expect. We believe that, for the best results, an observing station with an experienced man in charge, equipped with apparatus and of observations and experiment, is necessary for each of the principal fruit sections of the state; but we have to propose a practical method by which the fruit-grower can himself

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

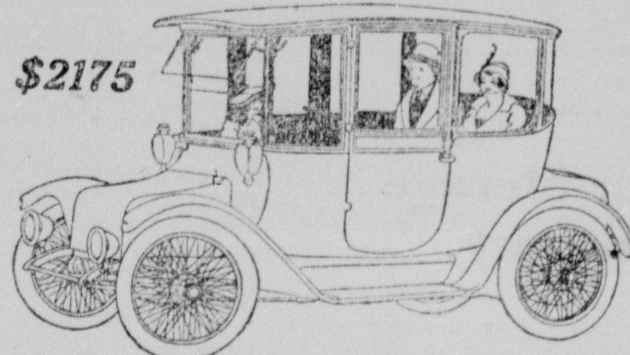

Wallace Tuttle, who for the past few weeks has been conducting the singing for the Rev. L. Hadaway of Chapin, will give a concert at Central Christian church Monday evening, Jan. 24, it was announced Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Tuttle has visited in Jacksonville and is favorably known to a number here. There is no admission to the concert.

Mr. Tuttle sang for a few who had gathered for the mid-week service last week at the church here, just before the prayer meeting hour. Those who heard him found his voice excellent and his manner versatile and pleasing.

Miss Gladys Cochran has returned from a sojourn of a few weeks in Chicago and expects to remain at home the rest of the winter.

Gums shrinking?
Danger ahead!

Go now to a mirror and examine your mouth? Do your gums look "rinsed out," shrunken? Do you see a jagged appearance in the gum-line?

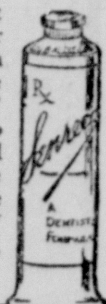

If so, see your dentist. He will tell you that you have pyorrhea, and that to save your teeth you will have to fight this dread disease at once.

From pyorrhea come by far the greater part of all tooth troubles. Unless treated and checked, it will result not only in the shrinking and malformation of your gums and of the bony structure into which your teeth are set, but in the loss of the teeth themselves.

A specific for pyorrhea has been discovered recently by dental science, and is now offered for daily treatment in Senreco Tooth Paste. Senreco combats the germ of the disease. Its regular use insures your teeth against the attack or further progress of pyorrhea.

But Senreco does more. It cleanses the teeth delightfully. It gives them a whiteness distinctive of Senreco alone. Its flavor is entirely pleasing, and it leaves in the mouth a wonderful sense of coolness and wholesomeness.

Start the Senreco treatment before pyorrhea grips you for good. Details in folder with every tube. A two-ounce tube for 25c is sufficient for 6 weeks' daily treatment. Get Senreco of your druggist today; or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address The Sentanel Remedies Company 503 Union Central Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

WORLD'S MARKET NEWS

WHEAT SOARS TO NEW HIGH PRICE RECORD FOR THE 1915 CROP

Close Is Buoyant, 2 to 3 Cents Net Higher—Corn and Oats Also Score Gains.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Wheat scored today to a new high price record for the 1915 crop. An advance in quotations at Liverpool with enlarged acceptances from there with the Canadian government buying at Winnipeg was chiefly responsible. The market closed buoyant, 2½ to 3c net higher at 131½ for May and 124½ for July. Corn gained ¼¢ to 5¢, and oats 1¼¢ to 1½¢. In provisions the outcome varied from 15c decline to a rise of 22c.

Except for a few transient setbacks wheat was on the upgrade thruout the session. Reports of cold weather damage to the fall sown crop gave an additional stimulus to buyers and so did word that receipts both in the northwest and southwest were on the decrease. The biggest rush to buy wheat came during the last hour of trading and accompanied news that the Canadian government was a purchaser at Winnipeg. Two prominent speculators here were among those who added to their holdings. Despite liberal sales to realize profits the close was buoyant at the highest point reached this season. Corn was inclined to drag.

Oats showed independent strength. Shipping sales amounted to 603,000 bushels and there was continued talk that oats were at too wide a discount as compared with corn.

Pork and ribs advanced. Investors were the best buyers of ribs. The demand for pork came from shorts.

LESTER BUTCHER TELLS OF COWBOY LIFE IN IDAHO

Lester Butcher of Meredosia went to the far west last summer and developed into a regular cowboy or cow puncher, which he says is more suitable to the calling in which he was engaged. His headquarters were at Boise City, Idaho, where he says there is yet a vast amount of public domain not fenced and a herd of 150,000 cattle is not uncommon and he knows of one man who owns 85,000. Calves generally come early in the year and in June are rounded up and each owner places his particular brand on his own animals. These marks are registered and recorded and any infringement is visited with dire punishment. The range is two hundred miles in extent and in addition many large tracts of land are privately owned and fenced in and homesteaders are constantly encroaching on the pasture which has been owned by the government.

In the fall the cattle are again rounded up and the ones suitable for shipping are cut out and lotted to be sent to market, generally at the age of three years, and the rest are allowed to be fed during the winter months. Only grass is used for feed as corn is not raised up there and the natural growth of grass is very nutritious. The duties of the cow puncher are to keep the cattle from going too far away from the owner's place of residence and to help cut out his stock at the roundups. The white faced Herefords are generally preferred to any other breed and are becoming the favorite on most ranges and practically have replaced the traditional long horned steer that could outrun anything but a first class horse and which gave such exercise to the cowboy with his pony and lariat.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE (By The Associated Press.)

London, Jan.—For the second time within one hundred and fifty years German soldiers are occupying the historic old horse artillery barracks at Dorchester, but while the first occupants, an Italian regiment, came welcomed as a guard of honor for King George I., the fortunes of war have made the present occupants the enforced guests of the British government. Another striking instance of the whirrligig of history was the discovery by the German prisoners, while excavating roads for an addition to their camp, of bones of French prisoners who died in the barracks during the Napoleonic wars.

Over three thousand German prisoners now occupy the camp, and additional huts are being built for more. The old barracks are inadequate to house all of the prisoners and streets of huts extending over both slopes of a little valley form a small town for their accommodation. The whole camp is surrounded by a wooden and wire fence inside of which barbed wire entanglements form a barrier dominated by sentry boxes from which a squad of guards armed with rifles overlook every possible avenue of escape. These sentries are the only visible evidence of human restraint for except a few commissaires officers assisted by four sergeants and a small squad of red cross orderlies there is not a single British soldier inside the compound.

For the first time since German war prisoners have been brought to England unofficial neutrals were allowed to inspect one of their camps and an Associated Press correspondent was personally conducted over the place by the commandant, Major W. C. Bulkeley, D. S. O., who not only allowed him to see everything in the place but permitted him to talk freely in private with the prisoners.

The visit was made under the worst possible weather conditions, a heavy cold rain having flooded the lowlands near Dorchester. The camp, located on sloping hillsides, escaped the actual floods, but the mud of the unpaved streets was deep and sticky. The prisoners, paid two pence an hour for such work, were busy digging paved drainage ditches which will soon make progress about the place much more comfortable. Several of the huts were leaking, but the occupants, who do not care to be separated from their units, preferred to await their repair rather than move into other huts in the new portion of the camp.

Many of the prisoners occupy the old artillery barracks, a long row of brick buildings with stables on the ground floor and quarters for the men above. The stables, well warmed by sheet iron stoves, form primitive but comfortable quarters, while the rooms above, each equipped with from two to four bunks, are the prize quarters of the camp. The other quarters are in long rows of temporary wooden huts, each housing about thirty men. All are warmed with sheet iron stoves, and in estimating the comfort of the camp, this feature stands out in the viewpoint than the average grate-heated London house.

In the old barracks are well equipped tailor and boot shops, where the prisoners of those trades repair the uniforms and footwear of their comrades. These workmen are paid six shillings weekly. Many of the prisoners arrive with their uniforms and boots in wretched condition, and the tailors and bootmakers are kept very busy. These workers are the most contented looking of all the prisoners. The only unpaid work in the camp is the actual care of their own quarters by the prisoners.

Each row of huts has a well equipped kitchen where the daily ration is cooked. This consists of one half pound of beef or mutton, potatoes, seasonal green vegetables, white bread and soup. The meat is of good quality and is well cooked by the skillful German chefs. Coffee is provided in enormous quantities, and judging from a cup enjoyed by the correspondent is better prepared than the beverage reailed under that name in any but the best restaurants in London.

Baths, showers and laundries are almost universally sprinkled over the camp as kitchens. The baths are well equipped with showers and foot baths for which an unlimited quantity of hot water is constantly supplied.

In the old handball court of the barracks the prisoners who desire to make the best use of their leisure time attend a unique school. The place has been roofed over and the conventional school master's desk is placed on a platform above rows of benches occupied all day by classes studying an extensive curriculum.

The corps messes together and has very comfortable quarters. In the center of the mess hall hanging from the ceiling is the following motto in German: "We Germans fear nothing on earth except God." This is also the spirit of a number of mottoes scattered about the various huts. The officers in charge of the camp reported that the problem of discipline gives them little trouble. There are, of course, minor infractions of the rules, but these are usually corrected by the German Chief Sergeant Major and his assistants. There have been only five attempts to escape from the camp and with the exception of a threatened mutiny when for a few minutes the prisoners refused to respond to the parade call there has been nothing to suggest serious trouble.

The postoffice of the camp is the busiest and most popular institution of the place. During the Christmas rush parcels were arriving at the rate of fifteen hundred daily. These are opened in the presence of their recipients and searched for forbidden messages or articles. The usual contraband is in the form of small bottles of brandy and rum, ten bottles of which had been removed from packages the day of the visit. Many of the parcels contained small Christmas trees.

EUROPEAN WAR NOTES.

Berlin, Jan. 18.—By wireless to Sayville.—Commenting on the capitulation of Montenegro, Major Morahit, in the Berliner Tageblatt states, according to the Overseas News Agency's synopsis of his article, that Germany is not overrating the event as she has not hoped to crush all her adversaries at one blow.

London, Jan. 18.—A dispatch to Reuter's Telegram company from The Hague says the Scandinavian members of the Ford peace mission have received permission from the German government to return to their homes by way of Germany.

The Hague, Netherlands, Jan. 18.—Via London. — Dr. Von Kuehlmann, the German minister, informed the Associated Press correspondent today that the whole difficulty regarding the return of the Scandinavian members of the Ford peace party to their homes by way of Germany was one of formality. The origin of the trouble was found in the fact that the members of the party were permitted to travel thru Germany to Holland as a group and that they wished to return singly.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 18. — James Loughheed, government leader in the senate, declared in a speech in the upper house of parliament today that Germany was known to desire possession of Canada as a prize of war, should she be victorious in the present conflict. Some Canadians, he said, could not yet realize that Canada was in as great jeopardy as Great Britain of any of her allies.

Senator Loughheed asserted that German spies had compiled and filed in the archives of their government the more complete information upon the natural and developed resources of Canada than was possessed even by the dominion government. He expressed the belief that Germans living in the United States would be glad to aid in the capture of Canada.

If the allies' lines were broken and an avenue opened upon the seas, the speaker prophesied, German troops would be landed upon the shores of Canada and the dominion's southern boundary would be crossed by reservists living in the United States.

To prevent such a contingency, he said, Canadians should exert themselves to the utmost to aid Great Britain.

London, Jan. 18.—The British official view of the German note regarding the Baralong case was given out tonight as follows:

"The Germans claim that their army and navy have observed during the present war the principles of international law and humanity and that the German authorities take care that all violations will be carefully investigated and punished.

"Some surprise is expressed that the nation whose armed forces have been responsible for the sack of Louvain, the murder of hundreds of unoffending men, women and children on the Lusitania and other ships, the execution of Edith Cavell, the introduction of poisonous gases, the poisoning of wells, attempted torpedoing of hospital ships and countless other atrocities should describe their methods of warfare as humane.

"It is further pointed out that it would be interesting to know how many German subjects, if any, have been punished for these atrocities. The German claim that Arabic was torpedoed because commander of the submarine had the conviction that the Arabic was about to ram the submarine. The true facts are that the Arabic was deliberately sunk by a German submarine without warning and that she neither attempted to attack the submarine or escape from it.

"With regard to the destruction of the British submarine E-13 by Danish waters, by a German torpedo boat destroyer, it is claimed that it came to a fight between the war vessels and that the submarine defended itself with gun fire. The true facts are as follows:

"The Germans found the submarine stranded in neutral waters and incapable of either offense or defense.

The last will of the Miss M. C. Melendy has been filed for probate in the office of County Clerk Horuff. The original document was drawn in 1891 and codicils were made in 1901 and 1914. W. E. The bulk of the residue after the payment of some small bequests will be divided among four religious organizations. The main clauses of the will are as follows:

June 15, 1901, Miss Melendy made a codicil to her will providing that her executor should pay the sum of $100 to Helena Palmer Hudson and that the bequests to the several societies be reduced proportionately by that much. This codicil was witnessed by Joseph Cridland and Adella Cridland.

Aug. 5, 1914, the same persons were witnesses to another codicil to the will in which the executor was directed to pay the sum of $1,000 to Thomas McNeill of Galena Ill., the sums payable to the several societies mentioned in the will to be abated accordingly.

CAPT. INMAN RETIRES AS WESTERN UNION MANAGER

Veteran Has Been in Continuous Service for Forty-three Years.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—After 43 years of continuous service with the Western Union Telegraph company, 25 years of which have been spent in Springfield as manager of the local office, Captain John B. Inman has been notified that his request for retirement has been granted, effective Feb. 1.

The white hair and grizzled moustache of Captain Inman have become familiar to scores of state officials, legislators and newspapermen sent here during the last quarter of a century to cover the news of the state capital and more than one of them has marveled at his unflinching good nature. Political history has been made under his eyes, for during sessions of the legislature Captain Inman has always made his headquarters in the house of representatives near the speakers rostrum, usually in the press box. United States senators and many governors of the state have been glad to list themselves as Captain Inman's friends and most of them were addressed by him by their first names.

With Mrs. Inman he is planning to spend the early days of his liberty in the telegraph wires in the Rocky mountains. Later they plan to return to Springfield and resume their residence here.

The funeral of Christian D. Kappale will take place Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from his late residence in Meredosia in charge of Rev. P. A. Soerensen. The following is an account of his life:

Mr. Kappale was born Oct. 23, 1863, at Emden, Germany, and came to America with his parents and brother Conrad H., when he was about 7 years of age. He was married to Etta Steinberg near Chapin Oct. 1, 1891. To this union three children were born: Tena, who is at home, and Mrs. Roy Burrus and Mrs. Wilbur Burrus of McKendree chapel.

Besides his wife and three daughters he is survived by one brother, Conrad H., who lives at Meredosia.
